

Workrite Ergonomics to Launch New Line of Products Integrating BuzziSpace Acoustic Panels

Tranquility Panel System Enhances Workrite's Offering to the Productive Workspace

PETALUMA, CA (January XX, 2017)

Workrite Ergonomics will now integrate BuzziSpace's industry-leading sound-dampening materials to deliver stylish privacy panel products for its new Tranquility Panel system. The system is designed to increase productivity and flexibility in the modern workplace.

"When identifying a partner to provide acoustic solutions for our Tranquility Panel system, it was important for us to find an organization that aligned with our core values of product quality and eco-conscious business practices," said Darren Hulsey, Product Manager at Workrite. "We chose to integrate BuzziSpace, as we both recognize the importance of worker productivity and understand the importance of delivering exceptional functionality without sacrificing good design."

Workrite's new Tranquility Panel system supports today's open office environments and is flexible enough to evolve and change whenever offices are reconfigured. The Tranquility panels help reduce noise and provide the visual barriers required to maintain concentration levels and improve focus.
